Lay Pearl: The Pearl of the Andaman in Phuket

Welcome to Lay Pearl, a residential project located in the enchanting region of Rawai in Phuket, Thailand. This development embraces a distinctive blend of contemporary architecture and the local essence of the Andaman Sea, making it the epitome of coastal luxury and tranquility.

Design & Concept: The meaning of Lay Pearl comes from the word "Lay" in Southern dialects derived from the word "Talay" which means "Sea" and when combined with the word Pearl, it means "Pearl of the Andaman" which is Phuket's expression. With the brand's original concept that combines contemporary architecture, the buildings painted in pearl white, when the door opens it presents the beauty, luxury, and durability designed with absolute care and attention to detail, making sure that every bit of useful space is used, well thought out and fully utilized.

The project presents standing-alone villas for full Relaxation. The 2- storey villas has a 428 sq.m land plot and 416 sq.m built-up area. It comes with a spacious living area, parking space, kitchen, dining area, and lounge. Most part of the main area is facing the pool view. The high ceilings of the living and dining rooms give the vibe of feeling fresh.
